San Marcos-Hays County Family Digital History Project

The San Marcos Public Library wants to include your family in our San Marcos-Hays County Local History Collection.

This form is for individuals and families to document their history within the San Marcos and Hays County community. The library is creating a digital history center based on submissions from community members. Submissions should be descriptions of families with ties to Hays County. Using information submitted on this form, the librarian will make a record of the submission in the library's catalog, and scan the accompanying documents (up to five pages) to our webserver. Your virtual histories will be accessible on the Internet through our library catalog—and ultimately through a Google search.

The person submitting the material will appear as the donor. Submissions should be accurate—though “family stories handed down” are encouraged—and use language appropriate for a library setting.

Please submit up to five pages describing your family history:

Who—the names, who married whom, children?

When—include birth and death dates if available.

Where—where did you come from, where did you live in Hays County?

What—what did members of your family do in Hays County? Tell your family story.

You may bring your materials to the library, or mail them to:
